

This image shows a full page of primary-ruled paper. It features ten sets of horizontal dashed lines for writing, each set bounded by two vertical solid lines forming a margin. The margins are wider on the left side than on the right. There are also short horizontal dashed lines at the top and bottom of the page, outside the main writing area.